Becky Goddard-Hill, Book Reviews for Mums: "My son aged 6 reviewed this for me and he loved it! It totally engrossed him he kept telling me to sssh! if I interrupted him and he said it was very exciting. High praise indeed. He said it 'was a really good fun book'. I had a brief read through and I absolutely adored the character filled illustrations, so simple and so delightful. The writing holds your attention, zips along and is funny!

The author suggests probably 7-12 is the right reading age for the book, but at 6 and 30 something we loved it too!"

Until Gatwick is spotted over the CCTV system by security he had quite a boring little life at the airport. But all that changes suddenly when he boards a plane while being hunted down by the vicious Miss Acid, the Head of Security.
