The Author: "No ordinary manager... his prediction came to fruition" - Sunday Telegraph

David Kauders FRSA was educated at Latymer Upper School, Jesus College Cambridge and Cranfield School of Management. He is an investment manager and contributes occasional articles to the UK financial press.

"Radical thinkers might have a point" - Financial Times

How does a bear market in equities differ from a bull market? What lessons can be learned from events of the past quarter century in Japan? Have the norms of financial strategy changed?

This provocative new book shows why the massive long-term capital market top spanning 15 years cannot be breached. Using his concept of the financial system limit, investment manager David Kauders explains how traditional economic cycles have been supplanted by a new economic cycle.

The book is clearly written and will be of interest to anyone concerned about the state of the financial world.
